In connection with the confirmation of infection of Cahills Irish Porter cheddar Listeria spp., You are obliged to inform the relevant authorities in your own country about the recall because of Listeria monocytogenes. Please take care of this as soon as possible.

If the cheese has been sold to consumers: ask your customers to start a recall procedure, meaning that they have to get this cheese back from every shop, warehouse or supermarket it has been delivered to. This must also be done if the cheese has been cut and/or sliced and prepacked.

For further steps regarding information towards the consumers, you have to follow the directions from your national authorities.

Once you have received the cheese back from your customers:

- the cheese needs to be destroyed by a certified company who can issue a certificate of destruction, which you need to send to us as proof.
